INTRODUCTION

The Power of Color

For thousands of years, people have used color for healing, entertainment, to create beauty, and to feel more radiant and alive. Colors are everywhere—in nature, our homes, our closets, and our food.

Colors have the capacity to assist with healing many health conditions, mental stresses, and emotional upheaval. Many businesses and organizations around the world use particular colors based on the properties of those colors and the effects they have on people. It is also widely known that many hospitals actively use certain colors on the walls that are known to be calming and relaxing for their patients. We are surrounded by colors, and they truly do have a powerful impact on our experience.

Can you imagine a world without color? Dull, monotonous, and depressing are the words which come to mind. I remember teaching a workshop in Europe about the power of color. One attendee came up to me and said that he just could not see how colors can help you to heal your life, or to become stronger, more confident, creative, and joyful.

I asked him to imagine going out for dinner to a restaurant that had a Red interior and then going for coffee to a café that had a Gray interior. While he was picturing this, I asked him if he would feel the same or different after spending time in the restaurants with different colors.

He replied, "Different, of course. At the first place, I would feel more sensual, energized, and passionate. In the second, I would feel quieter, more contemplative, maybe even a bit dull and tired."

How amazing that just thinking about and imagining eating at two different places could create such a different experience!

Colors can be used in many ways to help you heal, including visualization; the clothes, shoes, and jewelry you wear; the food and drinks you consume; home decoration; spending time in nature; gardening; using crystals, essential oils, bath salts, lamps that emit a particular ray; lighting candles; painting and drawing; using makeup; coloring your hair; and drinking from colorful glasses.

This card set has been specially created to give you a deeper understanding of the different qualities of each color so you can begin to apply the healing power of color in your life—become healthier, more creative, joyful, playful, spontaneous, peaceful, and energetic.

How People Use Color to Heal

I have worked with many people, both in private healing sessions and in Visionary Intuitive Healing™ workshops, who have benefited from learning how to heal with colors and now use colors in every area of their lives.

One client, Andrea, always wore Black and never seemed to have enough energy to look after her two small children. She often came into my office exhausted, as if she were carrying a heavy burden on her shoulders. When I inquired as to why she always wore Black, she said that it was the only color she had in her closet. It was interesting to observe that everything in Andrea's life also seemed rather Black and White.

I recommended that Andrea consider bringing more color into her life—in the clothes she wore, in her home, and in the food she ate. Amazingly, as Andrea began to wear more colorful clothes and pay more attention to including color in her life, her attitude toward life began to change too; she became more flexible, creative, and happy. I also asked her to explore working with color using some visualization techniques similar to the ones you will find in this guidebook. Within a short time, her energy levels had increased dramatically.

Another client, Peter, used color healing to cure his recurring pneumonia and sinusitis. He told me that now he cannot imagine life without color healing.

Many of my clients who are massage or beauty therapists visualize different healing colors while working with their clients. They report that their clients often say how much better and more relaxed they feel after their treatment.

How to Use The Secret Language of Color Cards

The cards can be used in a myriad of ways to heal your body, heal your emotions, gain intuitive insights, ignite your creativity, feel better about yourself and the world, to transform your life; you are free to use The Secret Language of Color Cards any way you choose. The following are some methods you might like to try.

Ask a question and pick a card

Ask a question, then shuffle the cards. Lay out the cards in front of you, face down. Sense which card is calling you and pick it up. Read its words and see if you can relate to them. Sometimes it won't be the words but the color itself on the card image that will draw you in. Allow your own intuitive insights to come to the surface. Then look up that card in this guidebook to discover its properties and how you can use its color in your life. Be aware of any words that jump out at you, have a pen and paper ready to write them down.

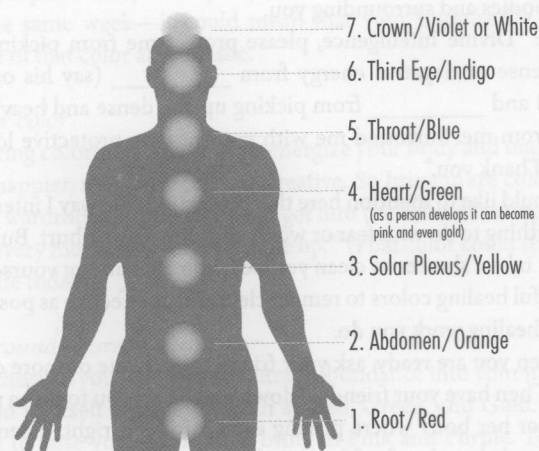

For example, if you choose Gold you would read: "It helps with clarity and decision making. It also attracts abundance into your life." Maybe you have been confused troubled as a result. Ask to work with the Gold ray to bring more clarity into your life. Or take some Gold coins and put them into a cup for prosperity, which will help you to attract abundance.

Place the card on your body

You can place the appropriate color cards on those parts of your body where you are experiencing discomfort or tension. Close your eyes and visualize the color surrounding that area. Simply putting the color card on your body can help it to absorb the color.

Chakra clearing with the color cards

Color cards offer a perfect way to deepen your chakra clearings. Become aware of which chakra you would like to work on and have the intention to pick the most relevant card. If you aren't familiar, with the chakra system use this diagram for direction.

Pick your card and do the exercise on the card while focusing on that particular chakra. You might like to hold the card over the chakra. Don't be concerned if the color is different than the usual color associated with that chakra. Chakras have multi-layered colors even though one is usually predominant. If you are working with the chakras, you might also be interested in my Nine Chakras audio program, which could deepen your work (see the back of this book for more information).

Working with other people

If you want to use the cards with a friend, have a "healing date" and give each other a color healing. Before you begin, first protect yourselves by imagining Gold and White rays moving through your bodies and surrounding you.

Say: "Divine Intelligence, please protect me from picking up any dense or negative energy from _____ (say his or her name) and _____ from picking up any dense and heavy energy from me. Surround me with your healing protective loving light. Thank you."

I would like to mention here that protection, the way I intend it, has nothing to do with fear or worry that you may be hurt. But just as you take a shower to clean yourself, you are bathing yourself in beautiful healing colors to remain clear and as effective as possible in the healing work you do.

When you are ready, ask your friend to pick one or more color card. Then have your friend lie down and direct you to those parts of his or her body where placing each card feels right. Then rub your hands together for fifteen to thirty seconds, and visualize the color coming out of your hands. Then gently and slowly move your hands above his or her body, allowing your hands to guide you to where the color needs to go. Repeat this process for as many cards as your friend has chosen.

Meditate

You can meditate on the card or the color that you have received and ask your own Divine Intelligence to give you deeper insights.

Eat or drink the color

Another way to help your body absorb the energy of the color you have picked is to have more food or drinks that contain that color.

Do this particularly when you pick the same color more than once in the same week—it could mean that your body really needs more of that color at that time.

Wear color

Wearing colorful clothes can re-energize your body and make you feel happier, more vibrant, and creative. So bring more color into your wardrobe. You might like to get into the habit of asking yourself every morning when you wake up, "What color could spice up my life today?"

Surround yourself with color

For those of you who want to attract abundance into your life, surround yourself with colors such as Red, Green, and Gold. If you want to raise your spirit, then bring in Pink and Purple. To calm yourself, surround yourself with Blue and Green.

Spend time in nature

Spending time in nature connects you to a myriad of colors. Make sure you take the time to look at and connect to the different colors in the trees and the flowers.

Paint

Painting and drawing are fantastic ways to boost your creativity and strengthen your connection to colors. If you let go of your judgments and just paint, it can also put you into a meditative zone and allow your intuition to surface.

Be creative

You can pick a card for the morning, a card for the day, a card for the week, or anything else you like. You can pick three cards and ask about your past, present, and future. You can ask a question about yourself or a loved one who might need healing or some help. Then visualize the color you picked surrounding yourself or him or her.

Use the information in the card messages as a guide to assist you. Colors in themselves awaken your creative juices and get you thinking in original, imaginative ways. Always tune in to your own wisdom and understanding, and use the cards in ways that empower you.

You might like to buy a notebook for color healing where you write down how different colors inspire you and awaken your feelings. You may also write down the colors you are missing and need to bring into your life. There is no limit to how you can use this deck of cards, and I encourage you to use your imagination and play with it. The most important thing is to have fun.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is on the cards?

Each card you pick represents a particular color and lists its primary strength. The card messages in this guidebook give further information about the healing properties of each color and the ways the colors can heal and empower every area of your life. Each card message also features an exercise designed specifically for you to use with that particular color.

How do I develop an intuitive connection with the cards?

Connect to a part of your body that is feeling some tension. Do this by placing your hands on that part of your body and breathing into it. Ask that part of your body to show you what color would be most helpful with healing this condition. When you sense or see the color—write it down.

Ask if there is any other color which can make the healing occur faster, then write down that color. (Often two colors or more can work together powerfully.) Read more about their healing qualities in the guidebook, and visualize the colors cleansing this part of your body until it is clear. You can also place the two color cards on this part of your body to expedite the healing.

Do the cards or the colors carry a special healing frequency?
I have put a special healing vibration into each card to assist you with your healing. You can also direct your own healing intention into the card.

What colors do I need to work with?

Sometimes people get so comfortable with certain colors that they miss out on other vibrations and influences that can help to change their lives. Many people I see wear Black, Gray, and Brown, and although those colors are helpful in their own ways, they can also create stagnation and drain energy if worn all the time.

So another way to work with the cards is to ask, "What color do I need now?" Then shuffle the deck and pick out a card. Spend some time reading about the color and connecting to it. Then think of all the ways you can bring this color into your life.

Why do I sometimes react negatively to a color?

If you have an aversion to a color, it is usually related to a past experience. Perhaps, while having a negative experience, you have seen that color and connected it to the unpleasant event.

It is important to read about that color and become aware of those qualities that might be helpful to you in your life.

Even if you cannot wear it or visualize it at first, get a pen, pencil, or marker of that color and write with it. Write down why you don't like this color and how it makes you feel. Often, acknowledging a difficult emotion can help to release it and bring more color and healing into your life.

Do I need to do the exercise in the card messages?

This guidebook has a short exercise connected to each color, and I encourage you to go through the process to maximize your healing and transformation. Also, feel free to make up your own practices.

To accelerate your healing, it is very important to write down your experiences after you have completed each action. This helps you to acknowledge the healing and gain further insights into the challenge.

I would love to find out about your transformations. Please feel free to email me at Inna@InnaSegal.com
