Foreword

I have always paid full respect to the practice of tarot, but I lacked a genuine knowledge and understanding. I'd always associated it with a lady wearing a headscarf, staring into a crystal ball in a mystical tent. It just felt out of my realm, and as with all things unfamiliar, I felt hesitant and cautious to engage in it. I'm sure others out there can relate.

Drawn to the idea of creating my own deck, I recently learned more about the respected tradition of tarot and how it can be used as a powerful and intuitive tool for self-discovery that leads you on a journey of self-guidance and personal growth.

Practicing tarot can help channel direction, promote clarity about what's important in your life, and create focus. Building awareness and clearing out the noise of what is not serving you, it can help you live more in the present moment, overcome procrastination, reflect on your current life, and awaken the next version of yourself.

When you choose a spread and ask the cards a question, you can connect to your own spirituality and intuition, the big ideas inside you, and your subconscious. You can find depth, spending time with an image and observing what intuitive message you draw from the cards.

Now, here is where the Awaken deck is different. Through knowledge, understanding, and acceptance, I want to lead the way in breaking the misguided stigma that tarot is all about mystical figures and crystal balls. I hope to open others up to the benefits of using tarot who may have not otherwise considered it.

To my surprise, when I first came across the Rider-Waite-Smith (RWS) deck (which is one of the most commonly used tarot decks), I noticed the illustrations were very mortal, unlike many modern decks. I connected with that representation of the human experience, which is what inspired me to replicate this particular deck. Protecting the tradition, symbolism, and balance of the RWS deck, while celebrating the uniqueness, diversity, and progression of our modern world became very important to me. The new illustrations' intention is to be relatable, with a dynamic and empowering energy.

And now to you, as you hold this fresh and compelling deck in your hands, I am hopeful that you connect perfectly with the vibrant energy and worldliness that we have poured into creating the Awaken Tarot deck. I wish you a fulfilling adventure and your own unique awakening.

Introduction

Tarot is an intuitive tool, in the form of a card deck, used for centuries to help people gain insight into their lives. Contrary to what you might think, these cards don't necessarily predict the future. Instead, they offer guidance on how to best approach the current circumstances of your life with intent. Tarot is a system of self-discovery and open, free-flowing information, as well as a guide to help you clarify your own thoughts, feelings, and awareness. That awareness, in turn, leads you towards a future that you create by your own design.

The history of Tarot

The history of tarot is rooted in many different cultures and traditions. Tarot Cards are thought to have originated in Italy in the 14th century. They were originally used for gaming purposes, but soon became used for divination. People all over the world still enjoy tarot's unique window into the human psyche today.

Nowadays, many types of tarot decks are out there, and among the most popular is the Rider-Waite-Smith deck (RWS), which was originally published by the Rider Company in 1909. This deck was created by Arthur Edward Waite and illustrated by Pamela Colman Smith. The Awaken Tarot deck is a faithful reproduction of the RWS deck.

The benefits of Tarot

Tarot is a tool for introspection and self-discovery. A reading involves looking inward to examine your own thoughts, beliefs, judgments, and emotions. It helps you to identify and understand your patterns of behavior, thought processes, and reactions to the events and people in your life.

The Tarot can also be used as a tool for personal transformation, assisting you in making necessary life changes. This guidance may be about creating goal clarity, providing direction in times of decision-making, or overcoming procrastination. The cards can guide you toward a path that will serve you best when making future-defining life choices.

How to use Tarot for personal growth

Tarot can support your personal growth journey in many ways. If you're already meditating, consider adding tarot to your practice, as it will help you develop your intuitive abilities and discover new insights about yourself.

If you're stuck at a crossroad and don't know what to do, a reading might provide guidance about a potential course of action and help you move forward. The cards will open up your perspectives and look at the situation from different angles you might not have previously considered.

The Tarot can also help foster self-awareness by providing a mirror for your current state of being. By gaining insights into your emotions, thoughts, and behavior patterns, you can increase your self-awareness and begin to make empowered changes in your life.

The Tarot Deck

The standard tarot deck contains 78 cards, each with its own imagery, symbolism, and meaning. The Awaken deck includes 79 cards, as we have included a gender-neutral version of the Lovers card. You will need to remove one of the versions before commencing a reading. The deck is split into two categories: the Major Arcana and the Minor Arcana.

Major Arcana

The Major Arcana contains 22 cards (also known as the trump cards). The term 'arcana' refers to a mystery or secret, and these cards represent the most significant aspects and events in our lives. Each card depicts a different stage, with its own energy and meaning. The Major Arcana is also referred to as the Fool's Journey because it tells the story of The Fool (Card Zero) as he travels through life and learns important lessons along the way. By following The Fool through his journey, you may discover your own past, present, and future.

When you draw a Major Arcana card in a reading, it is often complex and significant, and its appearance will influence the entire reading. It's usually a prompt to reflect on your life's broader lessons and overall themes.

Minor Arcana

The remaining 56 cards form the Minor Arcana and relate to more day-to-day challenges. They offer you different perspectives on your current situation, and provide guidance on how to move forward. The Minor Arcana cards may seem less important than the trump cards, but they are an essential part of our lives. They provide context and meaning to the lessons we learn from the Major Arcana.

The Minor Arcana cards are divided into four so-called suits. Each suit represents one of the natural elements and its distinct association.

Suit	Element	Association
Wands 	Fire 	inspiration, energy, enthusiasm, willpower, passion
Cups 	Water 	emotions, creativity, intuition, relationships, empathy
Swords 	Air 	communication, truth, intellect, thoughts, information
Pentacles 	Earth 	material wealth, money, career, manifestation, resources

Wands

The suit of Wands represents the element of fire and is associated with the spiritual faculty. Wands help you reflect on your determination, willpower, and strength of character in any given situation.

Cups

The suit of Cups represents the element of water and is associated with the emotional faculty. Cups help you reflect on how you think emotionally and creatively about a given situation.

Swords

The suit of Swords represents the element of air and is associated with the mental faculty. Swords help you reflect on how you think logically and rationally about a given situation.

Pentacles

The suit of Pentacles represents the element of earth and is associated with the material faculty. Pentacles help you reflect on how you think practically and realistically in a given situation.

Each suit is made up of fourteen cards: 10 numbered cards and four court cards.

Numerology

In tarot, numerology provides additional insight into the cards' meanings. In the Minor Arcana, the numbers one to ten represent a progression, meaning that each number can be seen as a step or lesson in a journey:

- 1 (Ace) New Beginnings, Opportunity, Potential
- 2 Balance, Duality, Choices
- 3 Growth, Creativity, Initial Success
- 4 Stability, Foundation, Manifestations
- 5 Instability, Challenges, Changes
- 6 Resolution, Harmony, Alignment
- 7 Reflection, Introspection, Wisdom
- 8 Strength, Regeneration, Movement
- 9 Accomplishment, Fulfillment, Attainment
- 10 Completion, End of a Cycle, Renewal

Court Cards

Each Minor Arcana suit includes four court cards: the Page, the Knight, the Queen, and the King. While the numbered cards represent situations, the court cards represent people and personality traits. All of them have already completed the journey from Ace to 10, and now they offer us their knowledge and experience.

The Page is the young person, full of energy and potential. He is often curious and enthusiastic, but can also be impulsive and rash.

The Knight is the brave warrior, always ready for action. He is strong and confident, but can also be foolhardy and reckless.

The Queen is the loving and nurturing mother. She is kind and compassionate, but can also be fierce and protective.

The King is the wise and just ruler. He is fair and reasonable, but can also be inflexible and unyielding.

Upright and Reversed Meanings

While a card's general meaning may remain the same, its interpretation may depend on how it is rotated. Some readers interpret upright cards as having one meaning, and reversed cards as having the opposite meaning. Others attribute unique meanings to each reversed card. Trust your instincts and assign meaning based on what feels right for you.

Card Interpretations

Although each card has its own unique symbolism and meaning, the most powerful component of reading tarot is your intuition. It will allow you to connect with the cards and their messages on a deep level.

While you may find it hard to interpret all the symbolism on the cards when you begin working with tarot, with practice, it will become much easier to read the cards and see how they relate to your life.

To help you along your journey, we have included a general interpretation of each card as part of this guidebook. We hope that this will give you a baseline understanding of what each card means and what insights you can draw from it.

Tarot Spreads

Tarot spreads are a specific card configuration or layout that is used to structure the card's guidance. Each position typically represents one aspect of the question, and together they provide the answer. If you're just starting out, you may want to start with one of the basic spreads below.

One-Card Spread

The easiest way to start reading tarot cards is by using a one-card spread. You'll not only get used to the symbolism and meaning of the cards, but you'll also get a feel for how individual cards can be interpreted. Use this spread for a quick, general reading, or to focus on a specific question.

One-card spreads are great for 'yes or no' questions, but they can also be used for more open-ended questions such as, "What do I need to know about this situation?" or "What is my next step?" Another common way to use single cards is for daily meditation: Draw a card and reflect on its meaning for the day.

Two-Card Spread

Two-card spreads are another simple layout to try when you're just starting out with tarot. In this spread, you typically compare two options or possible outcomes against each other. The first card represents option one, and the second card represents option two. Use your intuition to guide you toward which choice to take.

You can also use the two-card spread to provide you with a situation's pros and cons. This technique can be very helpful when you're trying to make a decision and want to see all the possible outcomes. The two-card spread is very flexible, so adapt it to fit your needs.

Three-Card Spread

In a three-card tarot spread, you lay out three cards from your deck in a horizontal line and read from left to right. In comparison to the one- and two-card spreads, three cards offer you a broader perspective and can give you a more in-depth reading.

The most common three-card spread is the past-present-future spread. In this spread, the first card represents how the past is affecting your present situation. The second card signifies the present and gives you insight into what's going on in your life right now. The third card represents the future; it can offer guidance about what you should do or be aware of in the coming days, weeks, or months.

Advanced Spreads

Many other types of spreads can be used for a variety of purposes. In general, the more cards you use in a spread, the more in-depth the reading tends to be, but a larger spread may be overwhelming for novices. Progress at your own pace, and use the internet as a resource to expand your knowledge of spreads as you get more comfortable with the basic spreads above.

Tarot Readings

Reading tarot is an intuitive practice that can offer insights into your life and the lives of those around you. When you're approaching a tarot reading, it's important to remember that the cards are meant to be a tool for reflection and not a definitive answer to your questions. The tarot does not provide specific predictions about the future; rather, it offers guidance and advice based on the present situation.

You can do tarot reading in a variety of ways, but the most important thing is to relax and trust your intuition. Following is a basic outline of how to do a tarot reading:

1. Come Up with a Question

Focus on the topic you want to explore in your reading; then formulate a question that will help you discover the answers you seek. Remember, tarot cards are a tool for introspection, so consider starting your question with "what," "where," "why" or "how." It's best to keep your question open-ended.

As you hold your deck, speak the question silently in your mind or out loud. If you don't have a specific question, you may simply ask "What do I need to know right now?"

2. Choose Your Spread

Choose a spread that matches your question, then determine the number of cards you need. The more cards you use, the more information you'll receive. However, as mentioned above, begin with simpler spreads if you're just starting out, and progress according to your level of comfort and experience.

3. Shuffle the Deck

Shuffle the cards until you feel a sense of unity with your deck, and keep visualizing your question. You can also finish shuffling by cutting the cards in different piles and recombining them. There is no right or wrong way to shuffle the cards, just make sure you do it in a way that feels comfortable for you.

4. Choose Your Cards

It's important to tap into your intuition when choosing the cards. To do that, always use your non-dominant hand—the one associated with intuition. You might pick them from the top of the shuffled pile, fan them out in your hand, or spread the deck out on the table or cloth in front of you.

5. Place Your Cards

When you're ready to lay out a spread, pull a card for each position in the spread, then ask one question at a time, or say what each position means out loud or in your head.

6. Read Your Cards

Now, it's time to interpret the cards. While individual cards have their own meanings, it's important to consider the spread as a whole and think about how your cards interact with each other in the context of the entire spread. Be assured that the art of connecting the cards' symbols to situations and people in your life takes practice. With time, you'll develop your own style and technique.

"The beginning of life's journey of self-discovery."

THE FOOL sets out on this journey with high spirits and a curious mindset. He knows that anything is possible, and he's ready to take on whatever challenges come his way. He lets his heart and intuition guide him, and he trusts that they'll lead him wherever he needs to go. The Fool is open to new experiences and willing to take risks. He's on a journey of self-discovery, and he knows that anything is possible.

Let your spirit soar! Go out there and seize every opportunity that comes your way because you know deep down that now is the right time. Follow your heart and don't let fear hold you back. It's time to embrace your inner Fool and take a leap of faith into the unknown!

*"The magic that is created through alignment with manifestation's
elemental tools."*

THE MAGICIAN, ambitious and creative, uses her skills to align with what she wants to create. With focus and determination, she can achieve anything to which she sets her mind. The power of the four elements—earth, air, fire, and water—combine and connect to the divine, giving her the ability to create unlimited abundance in the physical realm.

Don't let your dreams stay in the dream realm forever. Make them happen! Overcome procrastination and self-doubt by fully accepting your own power to create and manifest. The Magician is a reminder that you have the power and tools to bring your ideas to life. Use everything you have to create the life of your dreams. Go for it!

"The inner knowing and remembrance that everything is accessible to those who are in tune with their intuition."

THE HIGH PRIESTESS symbolizes the divine feminine. She knows all answers lie within herself, and trusts her heart's intuition. She follows her inner guidance by listening to her internal voice and taps into her intuition to access her higher self and access personal superpowers. The keeper of secrets, she possesses knowledge beyond understanding.

Reflection and self-awareness hold true power. By taking the time to explore your innermost thoughts and feelings, you can gain a greater understanding of yourself. Use this knowledge to help you grow and develop in positive ways. You have all the answers within you, so let the High Priestess help you access them.

"The mother who nurtures through her connection with nature."

THE EMPRESS is the ultimate expression of a woman's power, beauty, and sexuality. She fills her life with passion and pleasure, but knows when and how to regulate those impulses. Emotions are at the core of her being; she feels everything deeply, and her emotions connect her to the world around her. Her energy is vibrant and alive, flowing through everything she touches. She is the embodiment of fertility and abundance, giving life to all who surround her.

To find happiness, you must love yourself. The more you love yourself, the happier you will be. Love and self-love enable you to experience deep connections with others. They also help you to weather life's challenges with grace and resilience. Love is everywhere; all you have to do is open yourself up to it.

"The father who protects through his intellect and knowledge of structure."

THE EMPEROR is the archetypal symbol of strength, authority, and leadership. He has a strong sense of justice and fairness, and he always stands up for what he believes. The Emperor is the master of his own destiny and has a clear sense of purpose and direction in his life. People are naturally drawn to his charisma and strength of character. Though he is calm, he is always prepared to take action at a moment's notice.

When times are tough, it can be easy to give up and allow others to take control. However, it's important to remember that you have the power to take charge and make a difference. Don't be afraid to stand up for what you believe in and lead the way. With grit and determination, you can achieve anything to which you set your mind. Go out there and conquer the world!

"The teacher who guides through wisdom and knowledge."

THE HIEROPHANT represents understanding and enlightenment, and she encourages us to pursue higher learning through study and diligence. Like the High Priestess, she is in touch with a divine force. However, where the High Priestess aims to attain knowledge via her intuition, the Hierophant studies and learns by following customs, engaging in ceremonies, and passing on wisdom to others.

By studying the books, ideas, and people that have shaped our world, you can gain a deeper understanding of the present. Talking to people with different backgrounds and beliefs can also help you expand your horizons and learn new things. Seek out the wisdom of the past and let it guide you on your journey to greater wisdom and understanding. Consider mirroring your role models' paths.

*"The choice
and its illusion."*

THE LOVERS are in tune with one another and balance their energies and desires to create a harmonious relationship. They've let go of any preconceptions, inhibitions, and fears in order to follow their hearts. They know how to communicate and compromise, making them a strong team. Their choice is not simply between right and wrong; it's about which path will lead them to true happiness.

When you're in love, you feel unstoppable. Your heart is head-over-heels giddy with excitement and ready to take on the world. You know that anything is possible with the right person by your side. Your relationship is built on trust, alignment, and unconditional love. When the time comes to make a choice, follow your heart—it knows the way.

*"The action
driven by either consciousness or compulsiveness."*

THE CHARIOT is confident and in control; he knows how to get things done. Victory is always within his reach, thanks to his willpower and work ethic. His determination is unshakable, and his passion fuels him to go above and beyond. When the Chariot arrives on the scene, everyone knows that things are about to get interesting. He's a force to be reckoned with, and he always accomplishes his goals.

Now is not the time to be shy or passive. You're the boss. You're the driver. It's time to get out there and make some moves. Don't let anyone tell you that you can't be successful. You've got this. You've been preparing for this all your life; now, it's time to take action. The Chariot is here to help you achieve your goals. Jump in and take the reins!

*"The discipline
required to tame
the inner beast."*

STRENGTH reminds you that your willingness to endure hardships and confront challenges is more important than the size of your muscles. The woman approaches the lion fearlessly. She's not trying to subdue it through violence. Instead, she uses her calm and gentle demeanor to tame it. She's at peace with herself, and that inner harmony manifests in her dealings with others.

Facing your fears and anxieties can be difficult, but it's necessary in order to grow as a person. Ask yourself: What are the things that make me lose control? What are the things that make me angry or afraid? By confronting your darker aspects, you can find inner strength and power.

*"The introspection
inner light."*

THE HERMIT is experienced in the ways of the world, and he knows the difference between solitude and loneliness. As an introvert, he relies on his own intuition and understands the importance of taking time to pause and reflect. He has abandoned material possessions in order to devote himself to a deeper spiritual fulfillment. The glowing star illuminates the path ahead and shows him he's on the right track.

When you feel stressed, take some time to be alone and re-focus. By getting away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life, you give yourself the opportunity to connect with your inner thoughts and feelings. Take a few minutes each day to meditate, read, or just sit in silence and breathe. This time for yourself will help you to feel more centered and at peace.

"The wheel that reinforces life's cyclical nature."

THE WHEEL OF FORTUNE represents life's ever-changing cycles. We're always in the midst of change, never experiencing any moment for longer than it lasts. This Wheel reminds you that change is inevitable and you must learn to roll with the punches. Understanding the natural ebb and flow of life, you can better weather the storms when they come. By focusing on what you can control, you let go of what is outside your control.

No matter what life throws at you, always know that things can take a turn for the better. Remember to be grateful for what you have, and know that even the darkest night will eventually end and give way to a new day. Stay optimistic and keep fighting until you achieve your goal. Everything passes eventually, so never give up hope! Things will get better!

"The reinforcement of universal laws like, 'Every action has a consequence.'"

JUSTICE considers all options and weighs the pros and cons prior to any action. She also reminds us that we need to be fair and just in our actions and think about how our choices affect others. Sometimes, the right choice is not the obvious one, but Justice helps us see all sides of an issue and choose the best option for everyone involved.

Stay calm, think clearly, and trust yourself if things don't go to plan. If you act with integrity and stay true to yourself, everything will work out in your favor. Have faith that imbalanced situations will eventually be resolved. Justice always prevails! When you're feeling lost or alone, remember that justice is on your side!

"The new perspective that is awakened through surrender."

THE HANGED MAN is upside-down by his own choice; calmly and serenely viewing the world from a new angle. He has given up the material world to gain a higher perspective and is willing to let go of his old ways of doing things to make room for new insights and understandings. The Hanged Man knows that by making the necessary sacrifices, he'll be rewarded with a greater understanding of himself and the world around him.

When you find yourself in a moment of stagnation, surrender to the situation and find peace in the stillness. This is an opportunity to see your situation from a new perspective and gain new spiritual insights. Next time you feel like you are at a standstill, remember that this moment is an opportunity to grow and transform in ways you never thought possible.

"The transformation that leads to the removal of everything that is no longer useful."

DEATH symbolizes a significant change. In order for you to move forward, whatever is holding you back must first come to an end. This ending can be difficult, but it's necessary in order to create new opportunities. It can indicate the end of a harmful habit, a toxic relationship, or anything else that is hampering your progress. This card can also suggest that the time has come to put something to rest so new growth can begin.

It's time to let go of whatever is holding you back from achieving your true potential. Every new beginning comes from some other beginning's end. Trust in yourself and your ability to grow and change, and trust that you're making room for something even more beautiful than you can imagine.

"The contentment that is achieved through balance and integration, which leads to harmony."

TEMPERANCE symbolizes balance, moderation, and harmony. He is the perfect alchemist—able to blend different elements together in order to create something new and beautiful. His message is one of peace and tranquility, and his presence is often enough to calm even the most chaotic of situations. Temperance is a reminder that even in the midst of chaos, you always have room for balance and peace.

If you've been feeling like you're out of balance in some area of your life, it's time to get back on track. Temperance suggests that you need to find a middle ground between two extremes. This compromise may mean cutting back on work hours to spend more time with family, or making time for yourself amidst a hectic schedule. Find a balance that works for you and stick to it.

"The self-imposed restrictions and limitations that occur as a result of the attachment to the conditioned mind."

THE DEVIL is not necessarily evil; however, he is a symbol of addiction, self-sabotage, and harmful coping strategies. He depicts the areas in your life where you may be enslaved to these negative behaviors. However, by being aware and accepting responsibility for your actions, you can break free from these constraints and become free.

Do you find yourself always chasing after things you think will make you happy, but never seeming to find lasting satisfaction? If so, it's time to take a step back and reassess your priorities. Though achievements like status, power, and pleasure can seem like the most important things in the world, they're ultimately fleeting. It's time to break free from your chains and pursue a healthier, more fulfilling life.

"The destruction of everything that is not built on a solid foundation."

THE TOWER represents a time of upheaval and chaos in life. You may have built something up carefully and lovingly, only to have it come crashing down around you. This card suggests that something is coming to an end, and that something new is about to begin. Endings can be a difficult time, as you may feel like your whole world is crumbling around you. However, they're also a time of beginnings as you make room for something new to enter your life.

Sometimes, you must experience pain in order to grow stronger. This pain might take the form of a failed relationship, getting fired from a job, or losing a friend, and it may make you feel like your whole world is collapsing. However, pain is simply a part of life. By facing it head-on, you can learn and grow from the experience.

"The blessing that is bestowed upon those who choose to follow their true north."

THE STAR is all about hope, healing, and renewal. After a period of darkness and despair, this card signals a time of peace and serenity. You may find yourself feeling more relaxed and free as you heal from your wounds and scars. The Earth and those around you will offer you comfort and joy, helping you to feel reborn. This Star also reminds you that no matter how dark things may seem, light always glows at the end of the tunnel.

Let go of the past and begin something fresh. Trust your intuition and follow your heart—the universe is conspiring in your favor. Everything happens for a reason, and this is your time to shine. Keep your head up and stay positive; better days are here.

"The shadow work that needs to be done to make the unconscious conscious."

THE MOON symbolizes your dark side, the aspects of yourself you are not aware of or have been suppressing. It illuminates what has been concealed, bringing it into the open and prompting you to pay attention to your inner voice. Now is the time to tune into your intuition and trust your instincts. You may be called to explore your inner shadows or confront your fears head-on.

It's time to listen to your inner voice, even if you aren't quite sure why you're feeling the way you are. The question is: Do you want to stay in the dark, where it's safe, or move into the light? Allow yourself to be open to possibilities that might seem a bit strange at first, but which could ultimately lead you down a path to greater happiness and success.

"The inner radiance that shines forth as a result of true illumination."

THE SUN is about wholeness and coming into your power. You're no longer a victim of circumstance; rather, you create your own reality. The Sun can clarify your perspective only after you've looked into the darkest parts of yourself. This is a time of accomplishment, inner peace, and harmony. The Sun brings you back to your childhood, when you were free to be yourself and explore the world with a sense of wonder. The time has come to feel totally alive.

Spring is here, and with it comes a youthful energy and optimism. Let your inner child thrive and enjoy life to the fullest as the Sun shines down upon you with all its warmth and glory. Dream big dreams and go out and make them your realities. Enjoy your well-earned rewards.

"The freedom that is a consequence of true inner awakening."

JUDGEMENT is about making peace with the past and forgiving yourself so you can move on. It's about recognizing that this is a time of great upheaval or transition, but also an opportunity for you to grow and become your best self. To move forward, you must first accept the past, forgive yourself, and let go of what happened in order to embrace the future.

Judgement Day! It's time to accept yourself, flaws and all. The past is behind you, and the future calls for you to be the truest version of yourself you can be. Live your life according to your own standards, and don't let anyone else control your narrative. You are the author of your own story, so make it a good one.

"The fulfillment that self-mastery brings about through the evolution of consciousness."

THE WORLD represents completion, fulfillment, and enlightenment. The woman on this card is dancing in a circle of leaves, symbolizing the cyclical nature of life. She is perfectly fulfilled; her body is unified with her conscious and unconscious mind, and all the elements are in perfect harmony. She is a part of everything, and everything is a part of her. The World is a reminder that we are all connected and that we each have the power to create our own reality.

The world is at your feet. You have fought hard, overcome many challenges, and are at a point in your life where you can look back on your accomplishments with pride. However, remember that the successful completion of one journey is only the beginning of another—so much more is waiting for you out there!
